What Is A Farmer?

A Farmer is . . . a freshman who has trouble finding his classes on the first day of school while lugging around six or seven books without dropping them. Then as a sophomore he makes fun of the "fish" because he is no longer a freshman and feels older until some big senior comes along and asks him why he isn't at home with his mother. As a junior he has left the newness behind for he feels important as he has almost reached the top. His senior year arrives, finally. The activities and excitement are all part of the seniors' year but soon Rosecutting and Graduation come along and the year has departed as quickly as it arrived . . .

Bob Bell and Frank Bender advertise the wonderful cafeteria delicacies.

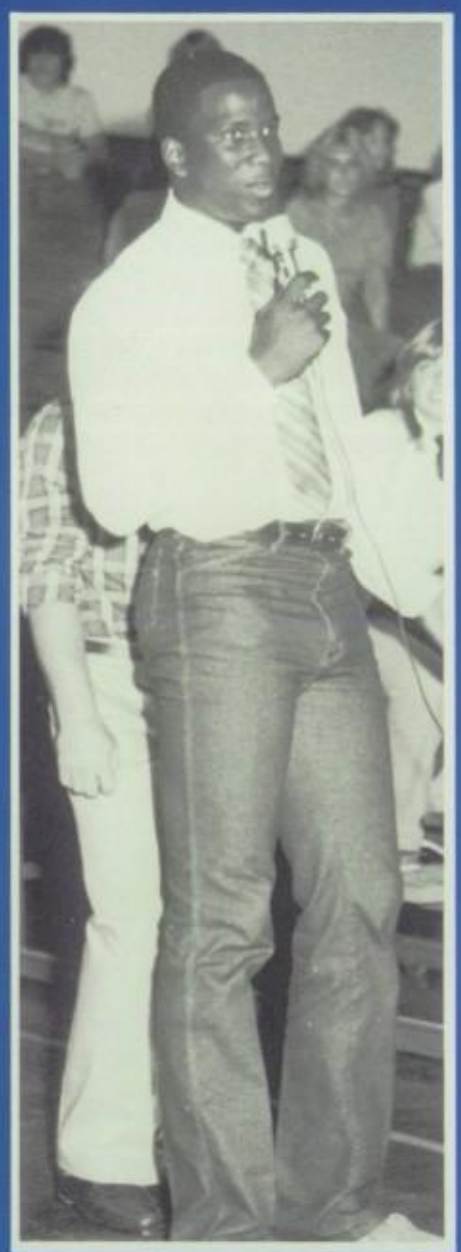
J. Shackelford, A. Dean, R. Van Pelt, D. Hoffman and K. Hanson illustrate their farmer spirit on hat day.

Doug Boyd clowns around and puts on a happy face.

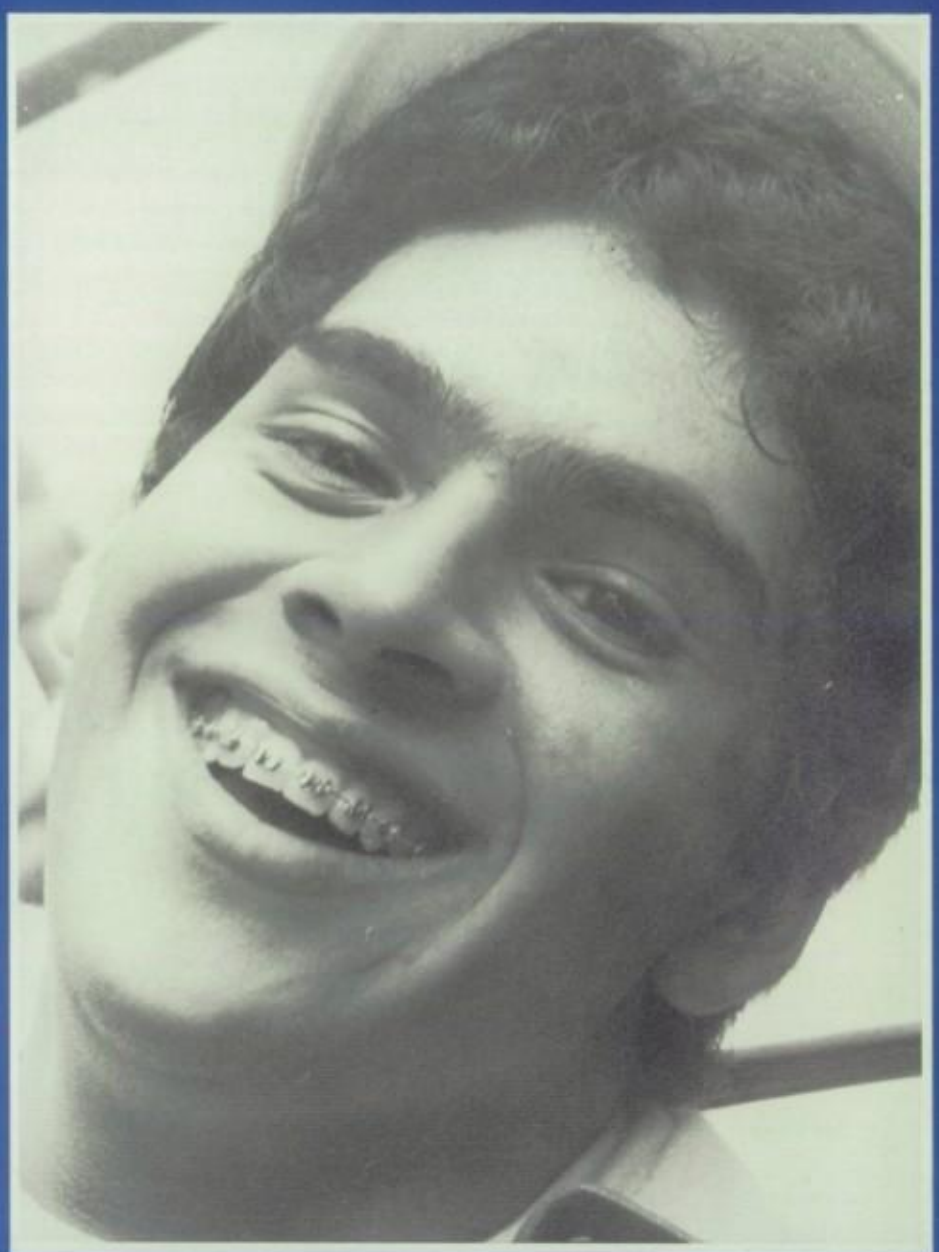
Pretty Boy Floyd (Calvin Brown) says your money or your life.

Marilyn Neiman uses new-wave methods to instruct her class.

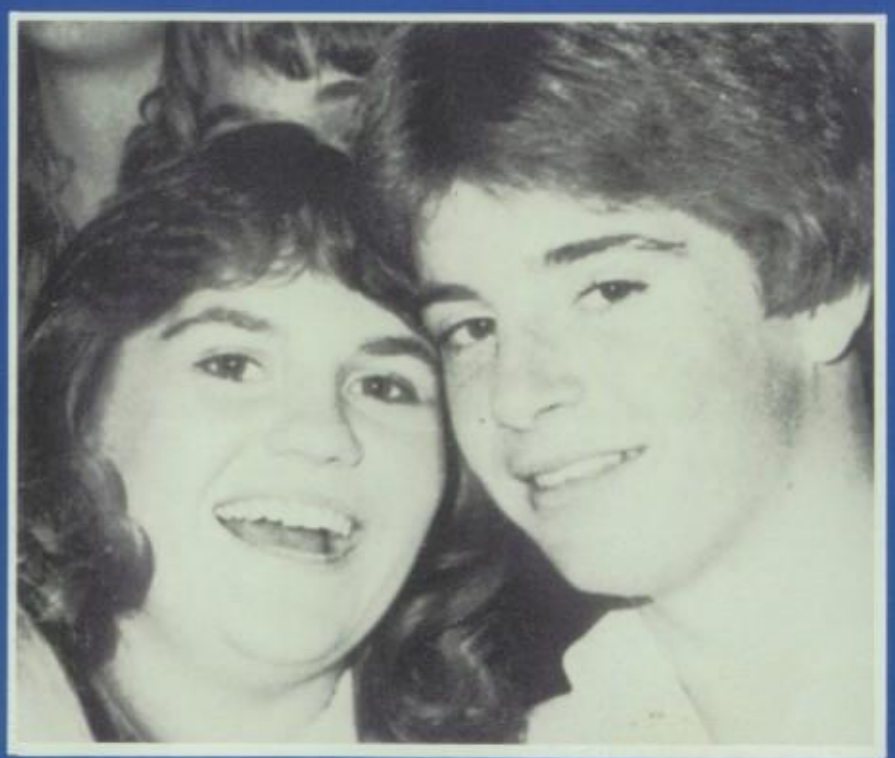
Lee Siriani says I know it all but nobody asked me.



Vince Jenkins predicts a good season.



Javier Pedraza is all smiles.



Jeanne Rau and Paul Houston express their Farmer Love.

. . . a Farmer has spirit. Not just any spirit but spirit that is contagious to all those around him. It can be explained as pride in his school and what it stands for, pride representing the student's care and concern for L.H.S. Within this pride is a sense of tradition — long-standing example of what has been and what will always be. These three things — spirit, pride, and tradition make up the Farmer.

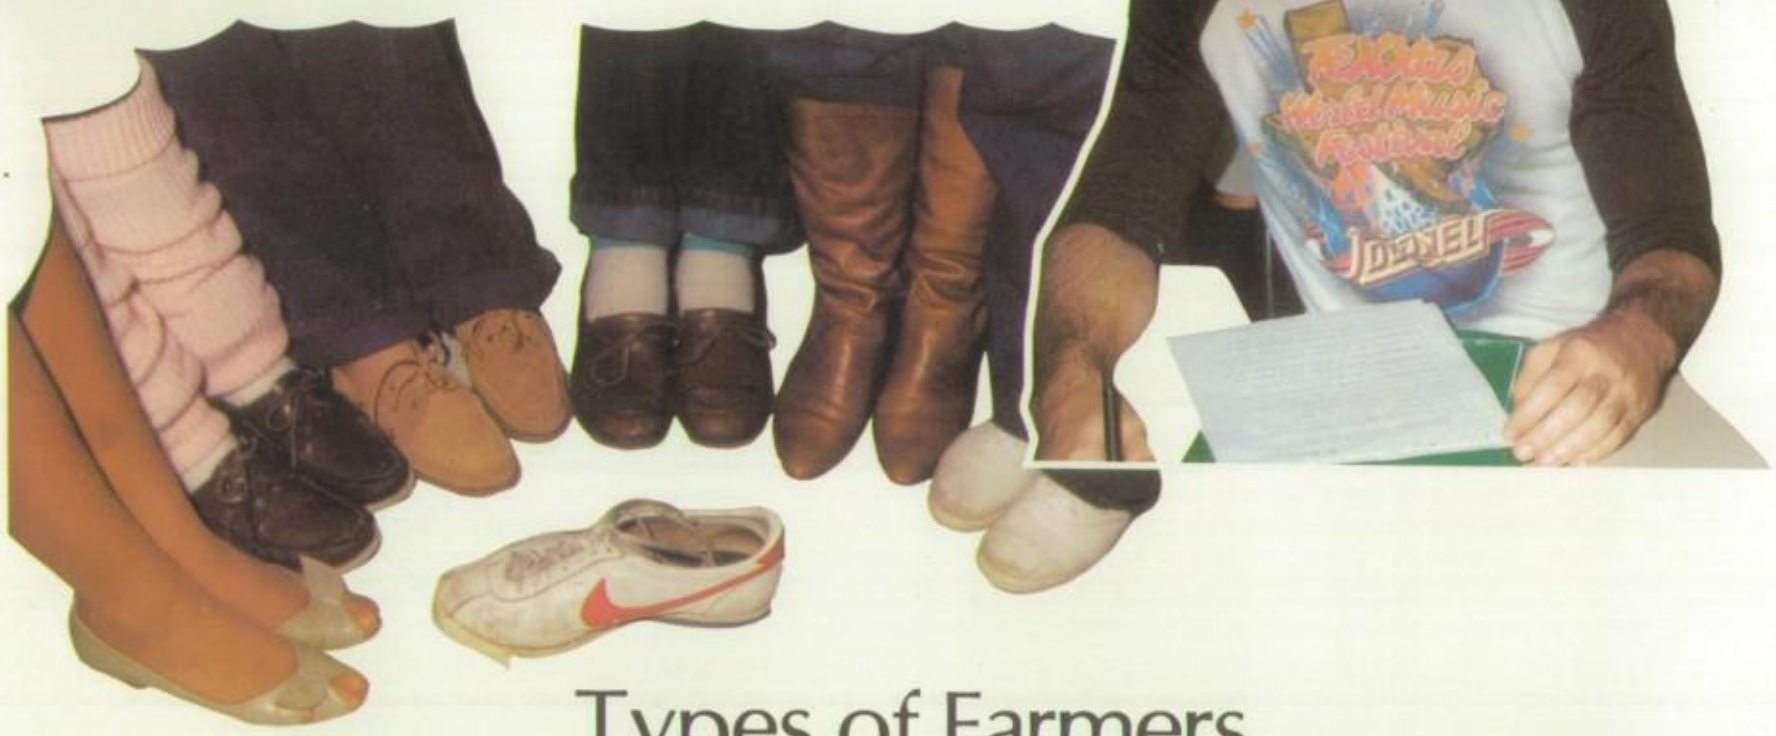
Dressing the Part

The way a Farmer dresses determines his personality. For example, the "jock" wears the typical Nike sports shoes, tight-fitting shirt (to exhibit muscles) and tight jeans. This guy has the walk of a "super cool" human being. He is self-assured and confident (perhaps too much so). His apparel proves he is . . . what else but a "jock!".

The "social" is a different story. She could pass as an owner of a small apparel shop. She has so many designer clothes that she cannot remember what she wears from day to day. She must always be involved in everything "fer sure." Often, she resembles the famed "Valley Girls" with her apparent disgust at doing dishes "like gross me back to the stone age." If she misses an episode of "Dynasty" or "General Hospital" it is the "total" crime of the century.

Going from one extreme to the other, the bookworm (brain) is the smart guy who knows EVERYTHING. His outfit includes the typical hornrimmed glasses, greasy hair and an oxford shirt together with ill-matched pants. He can be seen carrying five or six books and his constant hang-out is the library.

The "freak", however, is usually located somewhere close to the smoking area. His or her concert t-shirt and jeans, which look as though they are painted on, are certain to set a new style in the future.



Types of Farmers

Mannerisms and Habits

Rhonda Morris and Damian Drewitz demonstrate the broken rule.

Tim Bosley displays the latest fad t-shirt and the bandana.

Tonya Seifried indulges in a typical pasttime — sleeping in class.

Jill Spanheimer, assistant principal, proves that the faculty has class too, by wearing her polo shirt.

Farmers have always known to be stylish. Polo shirts are worn by hundreds throughout the school. To illustrate the "prep" look, bandanas are worn around the heads and necks — that is "cool". Farmers also have the best in footwear. From topsiders to Keds tennis shoes, you name it, a Farmer has it. Yet even with these fads the Farmers favorite edibles are forbidden this year. Looking around, you will notice a number of students suffering from "caffeine withdrawal." The absence of the cola and candy machines resulted in frazzled nerves and unhappy faces. According to the student handbook petting is also strictly forbidden. Yet students are seen sneaking a passionate kiss now and then. Sleeping is also a no-no but most everyone has had a time when they nodded off during a class lecture. These things are part of being a Farmer.

Dating Farmer Style

Dating a Farmer promises the ultimate in night entertainment. Dallas is the place to go on weekends. But where in Dallas? The answer is the Walnut Hill area. Walnut Hill Lane offers a variety of eateries which serve everything from seafood to Mexican dishes. Two favorites of LHS students are Chi-Chi's and Chile's. Chi-Chi's is considered the best in Mexican food while Chile's serves the greatest chili-topped hamburgers. But beware! Students eating in large numbers may be "carded" and that can ruin a fun night out. Besides restaurants the Walnut Hill area includes Malibu Gran Prix where you can take a date for a few swings at golf or have a thriller ride on a fast moving go-cart. Movies theaters in the area are also quite popular. "E.T. — The Extra-Terrestrial" won everyone's heart while "An Officer and a Gentleman" let you believe in stories with happy endings. A night out with a Farmer can be a wonderful experience.

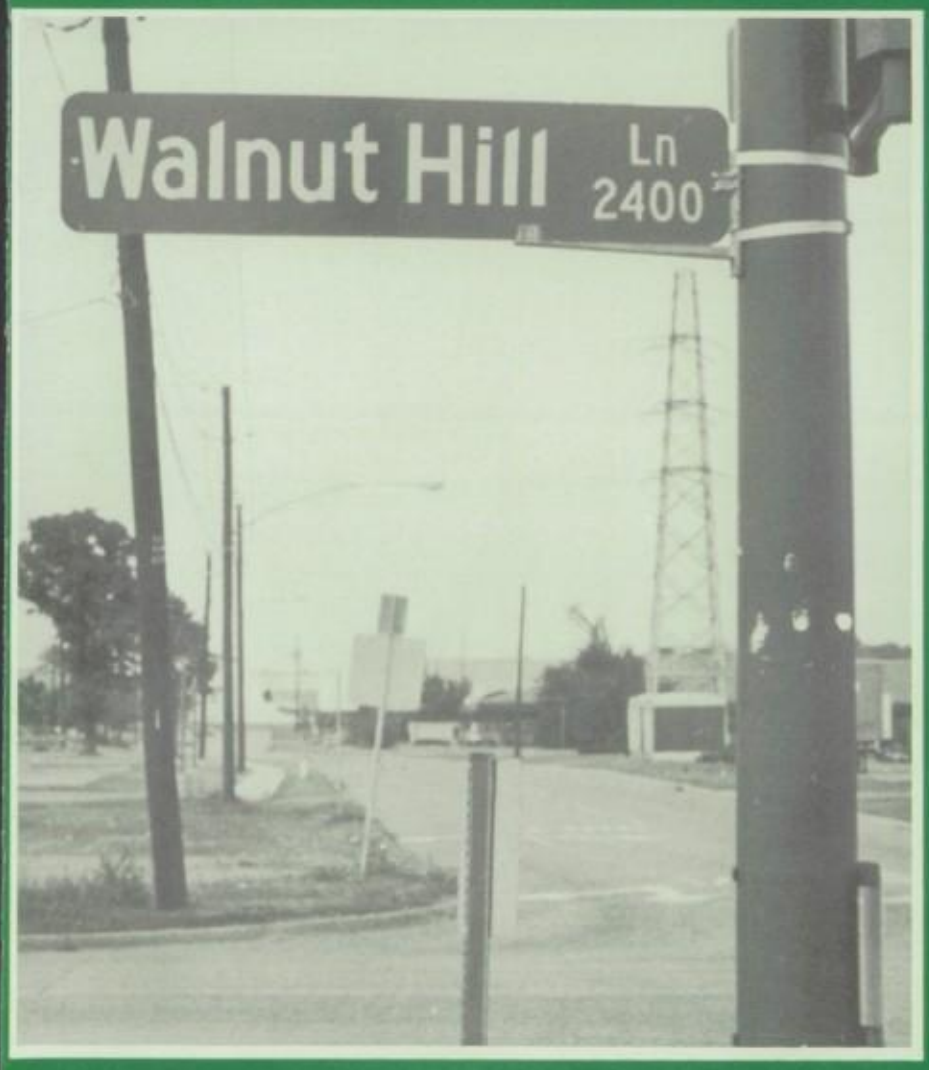
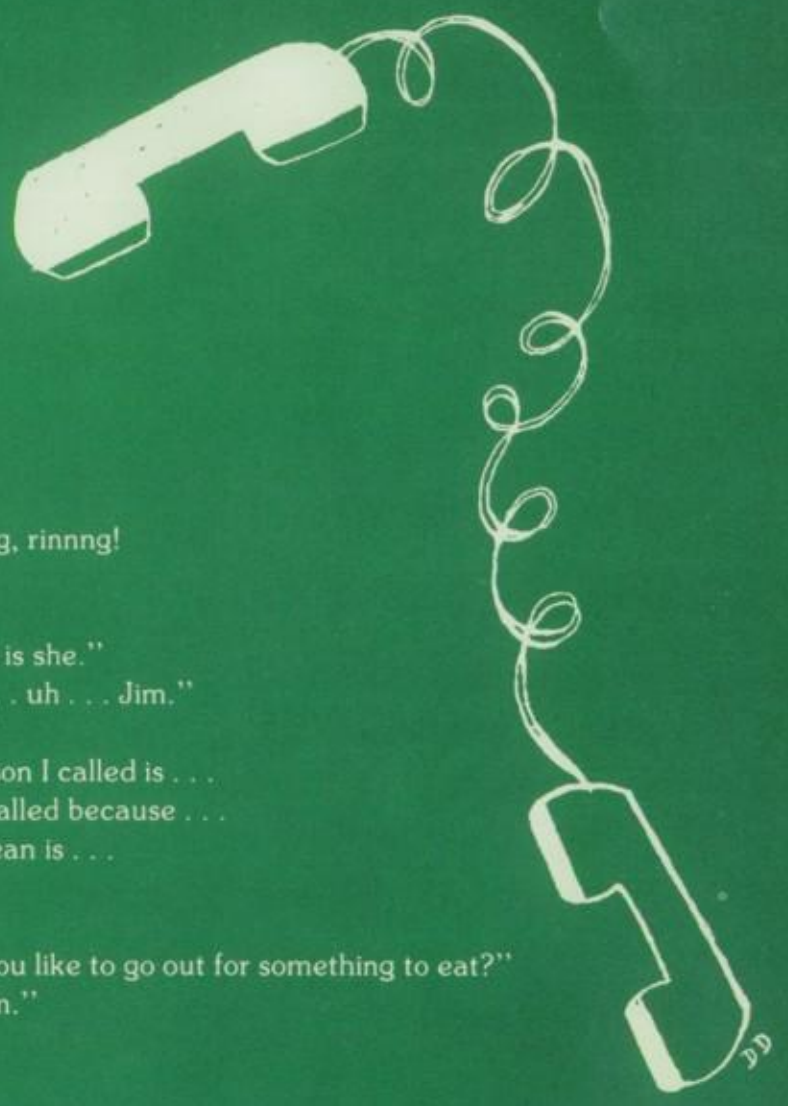
"You can drive, eat and play at Malibu Fun Center.

"E.T." and "An Officer and a Gentleman" were two box office hits.

Malibu's minature golf attracted many students from LHS.



Walnut Hill Lane is the center of attraction in Dallas.



Ring, rinng, rinnng!
"Hello?"
"Jan?"
"Yes, this is she."
"This is . . . uh . . . Jim."
"I know."
"The reason I called is . . .
I mean I called because . . .
What I mean is . . .
Jan?"
"Yes?"
"Would you like to go out for something to eat?"
"Sure, Jim."
"Wow!"
"Bye."
"Bye."

The Traditions

Tradition is important at L.H.S. Homecoming is the originator of the traditional mums that are loaded with everything a girl could imagine. The parade, now on Thursday night before the bonfire, causes excitement throughout the town as each class hurries to finish its float. For the past several years the Senior class has won the float competition. The bonfire, always built and lit on Thursday is an involved project. A group of Senior boys work throughout the school day to build up the pile of wood, old boats, signs and anything else that will burn.

The bonfire is a long standing event during the Homecoming festivities.

And Changes

New seats and visitor press box were part of the renovation at Farmer Stadium.

David Davision displays the new wave hair style.

Upcoming events were announced on the new marquee by the Student Council.

School dances were advertised on the school bulletin board in the main hall.

While traditions are an integral part of school, changes have occurred as well at L.H.S. New principal, Mr. Doug Killough has given the students of L.H.S. a new outlook in class participation. The newly installed bleachers allow more Fighting Farmer fans to see our winning football team in action. The new marquee informs all of upcoming events and activities such as the after game dances that have once again become a part of L.H.S. The new-wave music played at these dances inspires students to wear their hair and dress according to new times. These changes are just steps leading to the future.

The new district brought new challenges to the Farmer sports teams but they held strong and conquered even the toughest teams.

Homecoming 1982

Homecoming reigns as the most celebrated tradition at L H S Each small part of this important time comes together to make up this tradition Mums play a big part of Homecoming These flowers range from miniature mums to a double mum which the girls wore to school and to the game On Thursday, before the game the annual parade occurs Each student involved with his class float worked hard to make this year's parade a success The Seniors Humpty Dumpty won the float competition while the band and drill team kept spirits high After the parade, a community pep rally continued the nights excitement The Varsity cheerleaders lead the crowd in cheers and chants as the band accompany's them After dark the bonfire lit up the night after a day's hard work done by a selected group of senior boys The traditional boat, the S S Farmer, and many signs were engulfed within the flames The excitement mounted as morning came on September 17 Homecoming was near at last!! Everyone attended this special game of the year It became so crowded L H S students were forced to sit on the visitors side The game was an easy victory for the Fighting Farmers football team as they ran Jesuit into the ground with a score of 42-7 The band had a special performance with a trumpet solo to add a touch of romance The Bell Crew performed a skit after the band had played Superman rescued our drum major from the evil "Lex Luther" and, finally, the moment everyone had been waiting for, the crowning of the 1982-83 Homecoming Queen As the five senior nominees and sophomore and junior duchesses walked out onto the field with their escorts the stadium filled with silence The announcement finally comes The 1982-83 Homecoming Queen was Sissy Messina She was crowned by Student Council President Jeff Nowak After the game everyone went out on the town as is traditional at L H S Each guy takes his favorite girl to a classy, romantic spot to eat Staying out late is a key factor to Homecoming The festivities are over and another Homecoming has passed

Principal Doug Killough waves to the spectators in his first LHS parade.

Making an Entrance

A student enters L.H.S. as a freshman. He learns and expands this first year of learning. The next two years are just a taste of the last and final year. Each year he is allowed a little more freedom and given a little more responsibility, maturing as he grows older. His senior year arrives, he is ready for the fun and excitement it brings. Yet all too fast it is gone. Rosecutting and graduation are the final moments of the final year.

Due to the overcrowded parking lot L.H.S. developed new rules.

The Farmer Football games are a big attraction as one enters High School.

College Night is a main event for Seniors.

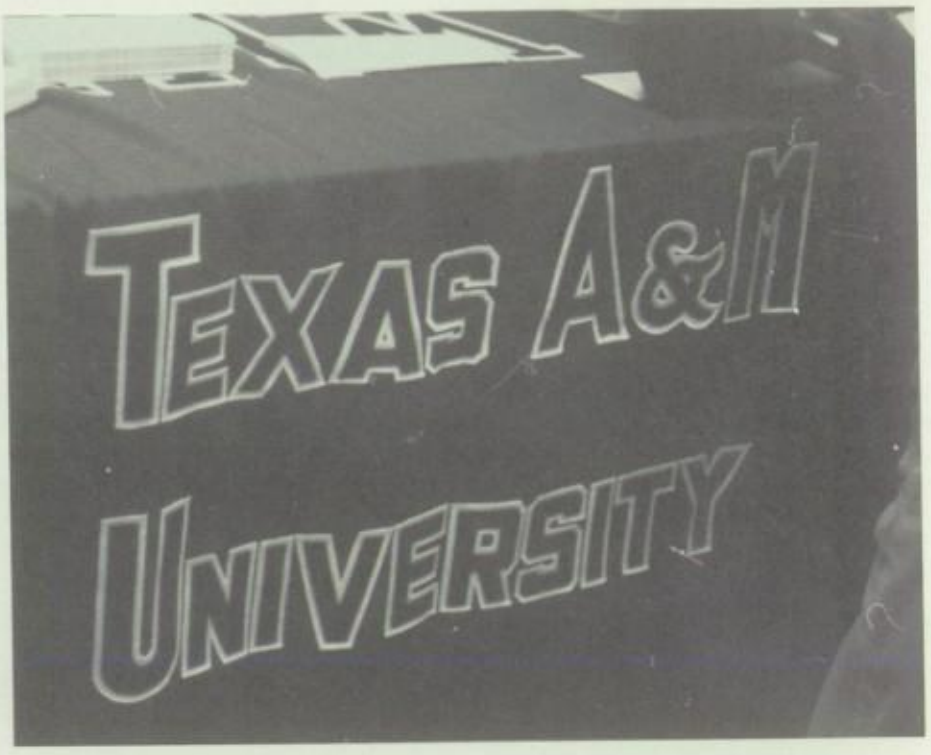
And Exit



Choosing a college to attend is a major decision in life for Seniors.

Classroom time is a big bore for Senior Rhonda Rudy.

The class of '83 is on top at last. This group of students has gone through a lot together. Remember being a freshman, walking around with a bewildered look on your face wondering why your first period classroom had disappeared? That was the year of playoffs at Texas Stadium when Lewisville upset those "hicks" from Abilene-Cooper. The freshman year was one of new challenges. If you were brave you snuck out to lunch with all the "cool" seniors without being caught. When we were sophomores, a new principal took over at L.H.S., we wrote our first research paper and drove our English teachers crazy. As juniors, hard classes such as chemistry and trigonometry were the "in" thing. After ordering our class rings, we were given the responsibility to raise money to put on the Junior-Senior Prom. It took time and a lot of work but we finally achieved our goal. Vandals made their mark on L.H.S. during our Junior year, as the main office was set on fire closing school for a day. This was also the year of the perfect 10-0 season for our bi-district champion football team. Finally, we were Seniors. We began to make plans for college, concentrate on grades and class rank, trying to overcome the dreaded illness — SENIORITIS. Despite this disease, the Seniors led L.H.S. to many firsts: The first winning float for the class of '83, a new tradition of dances after football games, and our first district title in our new 12-AAAAA super district. Sometimes during the year time passes slowly, yet this year will end too soon for the Seniors. The prom begins the series of closing events of the year. Rosecutting remains the most emotional time representing the cutting of ties from the security of high school and graduation ends the Senior year. We will look back on the memories of these four years and all the times of sorrow and joy, laughter and tears, excitement and disappointment. We will never forget our last year at L.H.S. or the friends we have made throughout the years.

Falklands Raise Temperatures

The conflict over the Falkland (Malvina) Islands in the South Atlantic has been brewing since the British first set foot there in the late 1700's.

On April 2, 1982, after years of talks, Argentina decided upon another course of action: invasion of the Malvinas. The British naval task force set sail for the Falklands. On April 25, Britain recaptured the island of South Georgia and set up a blockade around the Falklands.

Just before the fighting broke out, the US abandoned neutrality and sided with Great Britain. British jets bombed the Port Stanley airstrip on May 1. The week of June 18, Britain pressed for a formal end of hostilities. Finally, on June 14, Argentina surrendered and Great Britain released all prisoners of war.

Prince Takes R&R

After heroics in the Falklands, England's Prince Andrew, 22, arranged a secret vacation with American soft-porn actress Koo Stark, 26, on a remote island.

They were recognized by a photographer for the London Daily Express. When London papers disclosed that Prince Andrew had already introduced Ms. Stark to his family, Buckingham Palace issued a statement suggesting that the Queen was unaware of the girl's career as a porno actress.

The British public, plagued by heavy unemployment, felt sorry to see the exploit end. One newspaper poll stated public opinion to be: "If he wants to unwind with a shapely actress on some faraway island, good luck to him . . . but don't bring her home to Mum!" When the possibility of a marriage arose, the Queen publicly put her foot down.

British Hail New Heir To Throne

1982 was a year of ups and downs for Great Britain. One of the high points of the year occurred on June 21, when a new heir to the throne arrived.

At 9:03 p.m. on the "longest day of the year," Prince Charles, 33, and Princess Diana, 20, found themselves blessed with a seven pound and one and a half ounce baby boy. They later had the baby christened Prince William Arthur Philip Louis.

Princess Diana insisted, against the Queen's wishes, and established traditions, on giving delivery in London's St. Mary Hospital, rather than Buckingham Palace. She also had the final choice of a nanny for William, but says that she and Charles will play a large part in their child's upbringing unlike past heirs.

Intruder Enters Queen's Quarters

Several questions have arisen lately about the state of security at Buckingham Palace. These are the result of six serious breaks in security in 1982 alone. Probably the most startling of these breaks occurred when a man in jeans and a T-shirt came through an open ground floor window into the palace. He later found the Queen's room and simply walked in and sat down on her bed until she awoke. The Queen called the palace police twice for help, but because of the calmness in her manner her calls were ignored. Shortly after her second call the Queen's housekeeper and footman arrived to hold the man until the police arrived. The Queen, reportedly very upset over such an incident, asked for an investigation into police failures.

Who Finish Tour

The Who: Roger Daltrey, Pete Townshend, John Entwistle, Kenny Jones.

The What: The last U.S. tour consisted of four dozen shows. 50 of which were outdoors.

The When: It started on Sept. 22, 1982 and ended Dec. 17, 1982.

The Where: From Washington, D.C. to Toronto, Canada, the tour nearly followed the Rolling Stones schedule of 1981.

The Why: Roger Daltrey watched Pete Townshend plunge to the lowest point of his life, nearly killing himself, amidst drugs and alcohol. Daltrey decided that putting a stop to the touring seemed the only solution.

The Future: Touring will continue in '83 through Britain, Europe, Australia and Japan. One manager mentions cluster dates to be played in '84. One reporter suggests still yet another Who album.

Case Remains Open

A mystery could be the name for the poison-scare that instilled the fear that human kindness no longer exists. A hunt began to find the persons or person who put cyanide into capsules of Extra-Strength Tylenol and killed seven people from the Chicago area within two weeks.

Leads were picked up but dissolved into nothing. Johnson & Johnson, makers of Tylenol, started a full-fledged campaign to regain the trust their customers previously had in them. They developed a "tamper proof" package and enforced higher safety standards.

Princess Dies After Car Crash

The end of a fairy tale came about when, on Sept. 14, Princess Grace (Grace Kelly) died after injuries received in a car crash near La Turbie, France, the previous day.

Grace Kelly, 52, was the daughter of a Philadelphia bricklayer-contractor. She had a highly successful, but short movie career during which she made 11 films. In 1955-56, she retired early from Hollywood to marry Prince Rainier of Monaco. She bore him three children, and raised them herself rather than by the traditional royal nursery and nanny.

Princess Grace came out of retirement briefly to participate in ABC's "Night of a 100 Stars." Many friends believed, had the accident not ended her life, she would have returned to do one more film, having been asked to for many years.

Voters Speak Out

President Ronald Reagan watched the 1982 congressional election returns for signs of support from the American voters. What he got was a message to reduce unemployment and bring down the deficit.

The voters signaled that patience with Reaganomics persisted, but would not continue indefinitely. The public also told him that they could not live with a 10 percent unemployment rate and would not drown the jobless in order to "stay the course."

Neither political party seemed overly favored, although the Democrats did receive 26 seats in the House, while the Senate retained the same numbers. Seven Republican governors were elected across the country.

MX Stirs Up U.S.

The MX is a superweapon — a guided missile containing 10 superaccurate warheads, considered by some Pentagon officials as a necessary part of U.S. nuclear defense strategy.

The idea is to keep from looking strategically inferior in the eyes of the world and to urge the Soviets back into arms control negotiations.

Presently the U.S. has 1000 Minutemen Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles. Backers of the MX say that should the Minutemen system fail, the MX would be sufficient defense in itself and could possibly deter Soviet attack.

Opponents find the MX slightly less vulnerable than Minutemen and resist the $25 billion dollar price tag for 100 such rockets and their shelters.

The fate of the MX could also decide the fate of U.S. plans to base over 500 missiles in Europe.

Fonda Honored Before Death

Henry Fonda, the star of such movies as "Young Mr. Lincoln," "Twelve Angry Men" and "The Grapes of Wrath," died this summer as a result of heart disease. But his death did not occur before he received his first Academy Award for his performance in the movie "On Golden Pond," the last of his 85 films. This film like many of his others denoted the gentleness of Fonda. According to Jack Knoll of "Time" magazine Fonda had a ". . . sense of power held in check . . ." that made him ". . . the foremost incarnation of American virtue."

Star Works Last Years Before End

Actress Ingrid Bergman, 67, died on Aug. 29, 1982, in London. She worked her last years knowing she was dying of cancer, which had been diagnosed in 1974.

Bergman came from Sweden, at 23, already a wife and mother. She shocked the country by bearing Italian director Roberto Rossellini's child seven days before her divorce from Petter Lindstrom became final.

Some of her roles included "Joan of Arc" and "A Woman Called Golda" and she starred in "Murder on the Orient Express." Bergman won three Oscars for her work.

Convicted Murderer Receives First Injection

In December, Charles Brooks, Jr. became the first American to be executed by an overdose of lethal anesthesia injections. Texas legislature adopted this method in 1977.

Brooks, who was convicted of murdering David Gregory in 1976, appealed his case as high as the Fifth Circuit Court. The court upheld the conviction. Outside during the execution, one pro-executionist carried a sign with the slogan "Kill 'em in vein."

The series of injections started with neutral saline solution followed by an anesthetic depressant, a paralyzer and, finally, potassium chloride, a salt, to stop the heart.

Fad Sweeps Nation

The Val speak fad got its start with the hit single "Valley Girl," by Frank Zappa and his daughter Moon Unit Zappa. Examples of Valspeak are: "Barf me out!" (That makes me sick!); "For sure." (Absolutely; used for emphasis); "Gag me with a spoon." (Barf me out); "I'm sure." (No way; used sarcastically); "Totally." (For sure); "To the max." (Totally).

This song was inspired by the language trends of girls residing in the San Fernando Valley. Val-speak has become a national craze. Everyone knows a Valley girl when she answers her mother's request to do the dishes. She responds, "It's like so gross, like all the stuff like sticks to the plates, and it's like, it's like somebody else's food, y'know? It's like grody, grody to the max . . ."

Heart Gives New Life to Barney Clark

On Dec. 2, 1982, Barney Clark, a 61 year old retired dentist, became the first human to receive an artificial heart. His decision to undergo this experimental surgery was prompted by a fatal heart disease which caused his heart muscles to deteriorate so that his heart pumped only one liter of blood a minute as opposed to the seven liters pumped by the average healthy heart. Clark came through the surgery in satisfactory condition. But Clark experienced several setbacks which brought him to surgery twice more to close tiny air leaks in his chest and to repair a failing valve. Even though Clark has not been able to return home he said that he is glad he had this surgery.

Series Ends War

For 11 years, through 250 episodes, Alan Alda wore the same pair of combat boots and the dog tags of two Americans who died in the Korean War. "M*A*S*H," the comedy/drama television series ended its long run on February 28, 1983.

When the show first started, no one expected it to do well, so 20th Century Fox gave it one of the smallest sets on the lot. The set had rats and mattresses had lice — very realistic.

During its first season, "M*A*S*H" received poor ratings until the spring season reruns began. The original cast included: Loretta Swit, Alan Alda, Wayne Rogers, McLean Stevenson, Gary Burghoff and Larry Linville. Later cast members were Mike Farrell, William Christopher, Jamie Farr, David Ogden Stiers and Harry Morgan.

Memorial Reopens Old War Wounds

The Vietnam Veteran's Memorial Fund raised $7 million dollars to sponsor a contest to choose a design from 1,421 entries for the Vietnam Vet's Memorial. Eight internationally acclaimed judges of architecture picked the entry of Ms. Maya Ying Lin, 22, a first generation American of Chinese descent.

Her abstract design consisted of two black granite walls sloping to ground level in a "V" carved with the names of the dead in chronological order to be located on two acres of land near the Lincoln Memorial in full view of the Washington Monument.

Several vets and politicians opposed the absence of a flag, were in favor of a statue of soldiers, and considered Lin's design shameful. A compromise was arrived at including traditional touches.

Garvy Announces Football Strike

On Monday Sept. 27, 1982, Ed Garvy, executive director of the National Football League's Player's Association, held a press conference to announce that after that night's game between the Giants and the Packers, the players would strike. This strike would end all games, workouts, training, and subsequently disappoint millions of football fans. The major issues were union demands for a percentage of gross, player compensation fund, wage scale, incentives and performance bonuses. The strike lasted for 57 days and ended when the management gave into demands for a wage scale, severence pay, and the right to bargain individual contracts. Management was able to get 5 years until they would have to worry about such bargaining again.

ET Scores Big At Box Office

Steven Spielberg's "E.T.," the story of an outer space creature who is mistakenly abandoned on Earth and is befriended by a small boy, has become one of the biggest hits in cinema history.

According to Jim Calio of People magazine, "In its first 66 days, "E.T." grossed an astounding $200 million." Its success can be attributed to its wide range of appeal. Both young and old enjoy the movie because of its touching and hilarious moments.

Its success is measured not only by the money it brings in at the box office but also by the success of "E.T." paraphernalia such as: dolls, Halloween costumes, and posters. The success of such items and its rave reviews should draw any person of whatever age to "check it out."

JUNIORS

Being a Junior isn't easy. It's hard to take classes like chemistry or algebra while participating in the many activities at L.H.S. The junior Homecoming float was a success as the Wizard of Oz. The class also began the fundraising for the Junior-Senior prom. In the limited time allowed to sell magazines, the Juniors raised well above the amount of money needed for the prom. All this hard work paid off when April came along and the prom was held. PSAT's, DAT's and IOWA tests were also taken during the Junior year. A Junior carries a lot of responsibility and it can be frightening. Almost to the top, you question your ability to go forth and be a senior. Yet, we can go on to the top.

Brander Transfers to America

Sari Brander, 17, is an exchange student from Helsinki, Finland this year. She came to America "to learn English, meet new people and have fun."

Finland is a country of many lakes, forests and beautiful country-side, said Sari. She's not sure she misses it though. Sari comments that she likes the "friendly people, good food and Texas accent!"

Comparing schools in Finland and America, Sari said that Finnish schools do not have as much discipline as LHS, "It's O.K. . . . periods are much too long." In Finland, classes are only 45 minutes long with 15 minute breaks between each class. Sari returns to Finland in July, 1983.

Sari's favorite pastimes at home were snow skiing and wind surfing. Here she likes to water ski.

Draguicevich Enjoys Bell Crew

Marcelo Draguicevich — family, soccer and bell crew are his life.

Marcelo Draguicevich, 16, has played varsity soccer for two years. He is also a member of the Bell Crew which he enjoys even though it is a lot of work. He happens to be the only junior on the squad this year. As every pep rally goer knows, the Bell Crew works closely with the cheerleaders. Marcelo says he really likes working with his partner Karen Standifer.

School spirit is important, but family life comes first with Marcelo. He praises his brother Gabriel, who performs in the band, "Gabe is an EXCELLENT trombone player!"

Marcelo's favorite classes are Health II and Soccer, of course. He likes traveling and has done quite a bit. Marcelo also enjoys flirting with the girls and has fun wherever he goes — especially on weekends, everybody's favorite partytime!

Fontenot Twins Move South

Debrah and Denise Fontenot have been to a place many people can only dream about — Alaska.

The Fontenots lived in Cold Bay, Alaska. The population numbered 75, 45 of which attended the local school. Two married couples carried out the teaching duties, and school stayed in session for only five and a half hours a day.

Debrah and Denise say that the average temperature in Cold Bay is 35 degrees below zero, the record high is an astounding 72 degrees and that the area is barren of trees. The only way to reach Cold Bay is by plane or barge.

Texans pay a lot of money for King Crab, but in Alaska, according to Debrah and Denise, anyone can go out and catch their own. Denise said she liked Alaska because it is "so free and wild." Debrah said that "People get along well," and that she also enjoyed the wilderness and seclusion.

Goldstein Rises With Debate

LHS' Ace Debater poses for a squinty grin. (Sorry, J.G.!) Jessica has made straight A's for the past four years.

When the end of her eighth grade year came around and students began thinking about what they would take in high school, Jessica Goldstein was intrigued with debate. Enrolling in debate, because she felt it would be interesting, she entered a field in which she would become highly successful.

In the first tournament of her freshman year, Jessica and her partner Barbara Hauck won first place and Best Speaker. In the annual Mock Trial Competition, she won second place in the state. Jessica debated with Tony Methvin during her sophomore year, and together they never lost a preliminary round in the novice division. They placed first in district, second in regional and ninth in the state. In mock trials, she and Keith Kockler won fourth in state. Her junior year has turned out much the same.

Jessica moved to Lewisville in 1980 from Maryland. She has one of the best grade point averages in the Junior class, but it is in Debate that she helps make LHS #1.

This year is a new beginning for the class of 1985. Coming from Marcus where they attended as freshmen, LHS can be quite a new and challenging experience. Sophomores experience everything from walking in the wrong bathroom and being sold pep rally tickets by upperclassmen, to trying to find the fourth floor where you have been told your class is located. Despite the confusion, the sophomore year can be described as one of the easiest and carefree years in high school. The students are in awe of everything around them. Sophomores are easily spotted in the crowded halls. When a girl is seen almost fainting when "Joe Cool," a senior, says hello to her in the hall, that's a sophomore. Even though it can be difficult in the beginning, throughout the year everyone adjusts. The excitement of Homecoming, football games, and pep rallies explains the chaotic behavior of the students. By the end of the year, the sophomore feels a unity with the rest of the school. He is a Fighting Farmer.

Calderwood Travels Widely

Carrina Calderwood also lived a short time in New York before coming to Lewisville.

Carrina Calderwood, sophomore, who has traveled quite alot in the past 15 years with her family, arrived in Lewisville last July.

Her father is a traveling consultant who decided to take his family with him when he moved to South America. The Calderwoods lived there for over 10 years from the time she was six. Even then not all those 10 years were spent in one country — they lived in Argentina, Peru and Chile.

Carrina says she liked South America a lot, but where was she born? "Baltimore, Maryland, but I only lived there three weeks after I was born!"

Her interests are writing and pencil abstract drawing. She speaks fluent Spanish, of course. She'll go see a horror movie or a rodeo. Carrina is also on the swim team and was very excited about their season right before the first home match.

Wilson Arrives in Lewisville

Christy Wilson doesn't feel "trapped" at Lewisville High School!

From New Orleans, a newcomer to Lewisville is Sophomore Christy Wilson, who moved here in September, 1982.

Her favorite classes are French II and co-ed gym. In the future, Christy plans to major and minor in Journalism and English, respectively, at college.

Last year Christy worked on the newspaper and annual staff at her former school, Ursula Academy, a private, all girl Catholic school. She also made the cheerleading squad last year, but decided not to try out at LHS because, "There they had people that didn't have anything to do with the school to judge us." She thinks she may try out for the track team, though, now that an old leg injury has healed, "The doc said I could start running again, so I might," she said.

Ursula Academy, built in 1727, is the oldest Catholic girls school in the U.S. Last year 450 girls enrolled. The schedule consisted of seven classes a day and the tuition fee totaled $1300 a year.

Christy compared discipline at LHS to Ursula: "It's not strict at all. There you can't talk in the halls between classes. If you get caught without your name tag, you get a one hour detention, same thing if your shoes aren't polished . . . I like being able to wear what I want.

"My school sounds like a bore," she mentioned, "but it really was a lot of fun. The girls act different. They don't have to put on airs for guys or worry about their looks. They act themselves."

Administration Administration

Administration Administration

Authority Figures Make Great Farmers

Ever wonder what those men in three piece suits really do? Dr. V. M. Burkett, superintendent, has final authority and responsibility over the operation of the public education system in Lewisville. He carries out the actions and policies of the Board of Trustees. Deputy Superintendent Clayton Downing acts as Burkett's chief administrative aide, and he takes charge of internal administrative operations. The three assistant superintendents are Ben Harmon, who oversees operations concerning LISD students (Student Services), Marshall Durham, maintenance and new construction and James Summerlin, business operations (Investments/Insurance). The directors of secondary and elementary schools are responsible for curriculum in those schools. They are Dr. Michael Killian and Phyllis White, respectively.

"Welcome the new principal, Mr. Doug Killough," said the new marquee at the beginning of the year. The native Alabaman came to us in his twentieth year as an administrator from Birmingham. Under the principal exist the offices of assistant principal, which belong to Paul Tressa, Malcolm Dennis and Jill Spanheimer. This trio maintains a close contact with the student body. Their formal duties deal mainly with discipline.

A counselor's job is never done: schedule changes, credit checks, testing preparation, scholarship applications, occupational information, course selection . . . These very important people are Beverly Martin, head counselor, Chuck Wheeler, Joyce LaFond, Arlene Bentson and Murray Spidell.

The office personnel, secretaries and attendance clerks, keep everybody "in forms."

Politics Color Her Life

"Exciting," is how Nancy Brannon describes her work as the State Committee woman for Senate District 22, a Democratic district.

Brannon has been politically active for about nine years. She served as precinct chairman, election judge, President of the Denton County Democrats and delegate to every state convention since 1974 for Texas. She also held the position of chairman on the program committee for the Texas Democratic Party. The TDP gives workshops on how to get people involved in politics. More recently, Brannon worked on Mark White's campaign in the governor's race.

Brannon felt honored upon receiving an invitation to the Carter inauguration in 1976. She also received an invitation from Cyrus Vance, ex-U.S. Secretary of State, to a foreign policy workshop in Washington D.C. in April of 1980.

When asked what reward she gets from political work, Brannon replied, "You get to go to new places and meet new people."

She said that the schools are "a place you turn students into contributing members of society."

Nancy Brannon contemplates the next step in her political career.

SponsorTakes Charge of Journalism

On the annual staff, everyone has to bite the bullet every now and then, but with two journalism production classes, Morriss tends to get carried away.

Carolyn Morriss, Journalism instructor and staff sponsor at Lewisville High School, only began her work here in January, 1982, but has already become a highly respected and well-liked teacher in that short period of time.

Morriss takes life as it comes with a positive attitude. She's not a perfectionist and doesn't expect her students to be either. One lesson Morriss teaches every year is this: when making a product — be it paper or annual — for the entire school, someone will always find fault with it, "You can't please everybody, there's no way."

She expects her students to watch, listen and learn what she's teaching, but Morriss also relates to her students on their level. She urges them to work hard and put out the best work they can, yet allows them to test their limits of creativity and ambition.

Even while in the hospital and recuperating at home from the middle of November through December, her absence only deepened the newspaper and annual staffs' dedication to her and the school and to prove that she had taught her students well.

Pinson Samples All Aspects

Mr. Delmer Pinson is an educator in every sense of the word, "I've been everything there is to be," from coach and teacher to superintendent. He received his masters degree in Education Administration.

For the past three years, he has taught civics, American History and economics at Lewisville High School, but this is actually his fifth year of teaching. Prior to this, Pinson served as the superintendent of the Malone ISD. He's also coached many sports: volleyball, girl's and boy's track, basketball and baseball.

Pinson said he loves teaching, "Wouldn't be doing this otherwise. I may have higher expectations sometimes. I expect them to work." He compliments the LHS student body on being exceptional, well-mannered and behaved. "Those who complain have never seen a really 'crummy' student body," Pinson chuckled.

LHS has a good, hard working faculty, according to Pinson, they're "a cut above. We're a close knit group. In our department, we all get along. It creates a pretty decent department when everyone's rowin' in the same direction!"

Pinson, currently in action as a teacher, lectures to a class.

Squibb Promotes The Positive

Sally Squibb sits in her "own little room" full of thoughts on life and love.

Ms. Sally Squibb, Debate and English teacher here at Lewisville High School, firmly believes in the power of being positive and carries that belief over into the classroom.

While in school, she observed a lack of teacher concern which prompted her into teaching. "School should be fun. You should like to come." With that idea in mind, Squibb sought positions of leadership and guidance to make learning interesting and desirable for others. In 1971, she began her teaching career by going to Thailand with the Peace Corps. The next year she took a teaching position in a Homebound program.

About debate at LHS, she said, "I started the program here. In '78, I sponsored the ready writers. All the schools around us had big teams."

Squibb describes herself as a product of the sixties, "I'm a success oriented person." Her favorite book is The Little Prince. When asked to state her philosophy, Squibb proclaimed, "Life is what you make it. I believe in rainbows and dreams come true."

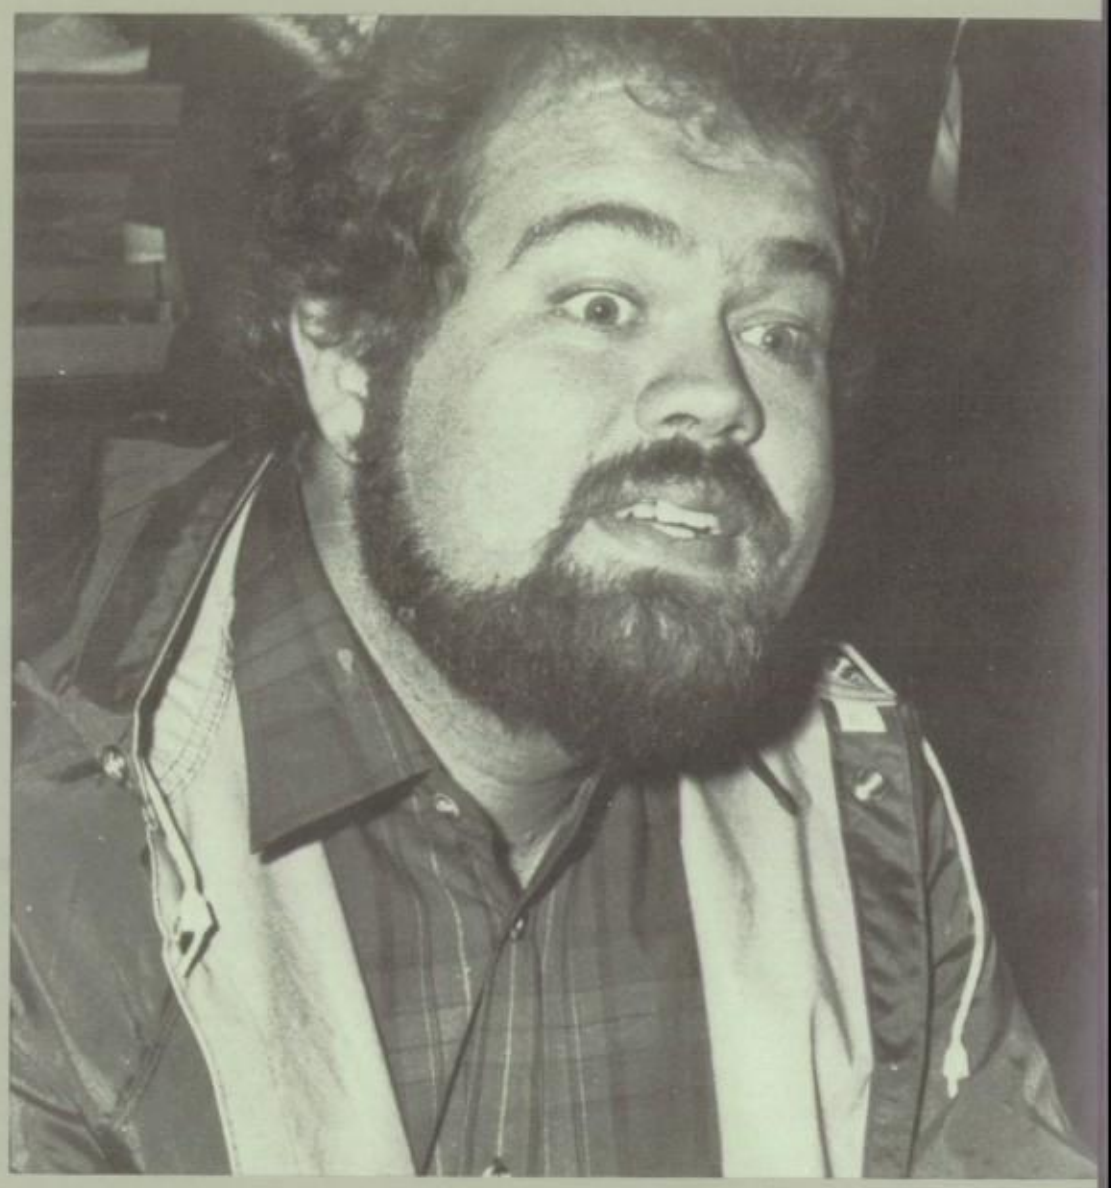
Pressure Serves Him Wright

Do you foresee a dark, moody forbidding figure in your future? Perhaps you're considering Bell Crew, or taking geology next year or have been elected to Student Council. The honorable Charles David Wright, University of Texas graduate and teacher of 13 years, has sponsored Student Council for the past three years.

He once cautioned his class that he became "a bear" around Homecoming. Wright tells how he assumed sponsorship of the Student Council, "Up until three years ago, they hadn't done anything. I was talking to the principal about it and he suggested I volunteer. So, I did." Getting the position was easier than holding it, but Wright is a jovial fellow who likes to see the job done — even if he has to do it himself.

Outside the class, Wright involves himself in playing tennis, attending the opera, and listening to classical music (to soothe his cat-like nerves!) He also likes to travel and is always willing to sponsor summer trips to Europe and other exciting places.

What else would one expect from someone whose personal mottos are: "Take life easy, one day at a time. You make your own problems," and if you allow that to happen, then you have to face it, says Longhorn Charley.



David Wright really gets into the spirit of things.

Support Crews Help Students

Who dumps the garbage with the strength of bulldozers? Who polishes the floors with the speed of lightning? Who works from morning to afternoon to see that our 30 minute lunches go as smoothly as possible?

Although we might not see the custodians every day, they are always around, cleaning up any little mess we might make. Through the dutiful service of these individuals, we have a clean building. Students play a large part in the cleaning of our school also, and together we present a good image of LHS.

While the custodians help the school, the lunchroom workers help the students. Our culinary experts keep us going through the day, making and selling their gastronomical delights. Although most of us do not really know them, these women in white will always be remembered in our hearts and stomachs as well.

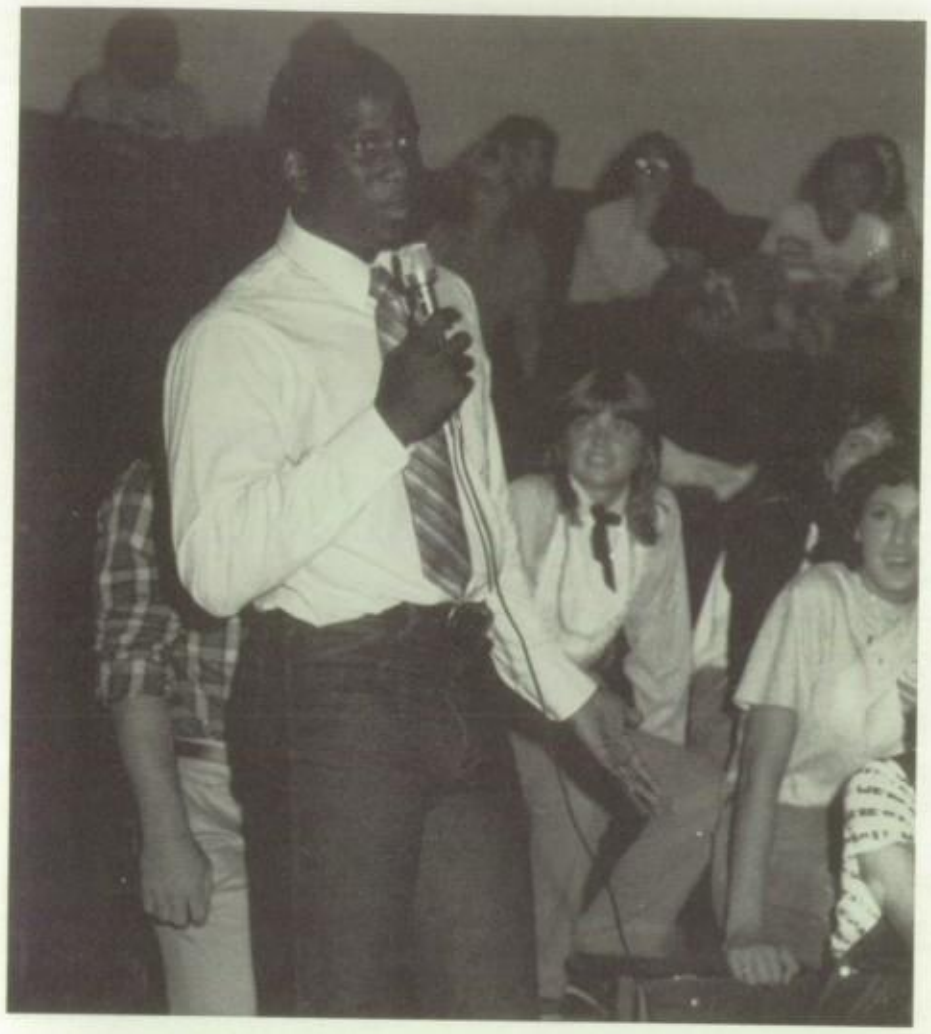
A New District . . .



Vince Jenkins and Perry Jones are the speakers of the week.

A New District . . . The District 12-AAAAA was a tough district to go into. Having been voted out of the 6-AAAAA district Lewisville was faced with some teams they had never seen, never met, and most of all never played. This new district was the reason for the "go for it and win" attitude that each player expressed. The expression of these players was demonstrated on the field by blocks, tackles and runs. They started off slow and sure but by the fourth game Lewisville had its feet firmly on the ground.

Fighting Farmer spirit is evident everywhere.

Vince Jenkins, 85, runs for a winning touchdown.

The Fighting Farmers break through into a new district.

A New Challenge . . .

In the beginning, people were doubtful about the Lewisville Farmers taking on the new challenge of a new district. But the Fighting Farmers soon erased all doubt in everyone's mind. The first game against Arlington came to be the first of many victories at 21-14. But then Lewisville battled against an old enemy, Eastern Hills. The Farmers lost, 6-19, as a result of too many fumbles. Homecoming restored Lewisville's confidence with a win over Jesuit, 42-7. District play started with a bang as Lewisville shut off defending state champions, Lake Highlands, 21-14. Lewisville continued to prove their power away from home at Richardson Berkner, 27-7. The Farmers then returned home to battle it out to 0-0 tie with Plano. The home team did win the game with more penetrations. The Richardson Eagles put up a tough fight but the Farmers overcame 20-10. Greenville proved an easy victory despite the long drive over with a Farmer win 35-21. The Plano East Panthers scratched their way through the game but Lewisville came out on top, 24-14. Richardson Pearce was the last and final victory, 10-0. The Farmers had achieved their goal and won the District 12-5A title. Then it was onward to the Bi-District game with high hopes of going to state. But to their disappointment, the Farmers went no further. They ended their season with a defeat to Dallas Carter High School.

12-5A Offers Different Foes

Challenge was certainly the name of game of the new district the Farmers found themselves in this year. This challenge involved much hard work to make the grade in District 12-5A. But the Farmers were sure of their ability to make the passing grade and do the job well. Meeting such opponents as last year's champions, Lake Highlands, and old enemies Plano and Eastern Hills did not dampen the Farmers enthusiasm to go for the district title.

Vince Jenkins, 85, tackles the Jesuit quarterback while Vince Hare looks on.

Roy Christian, 32, shows disappointment at the loss of the bi-district games.

Perry Jones, 55, and Betsy Maus show that LHS is always No. 1.

Teddy Garcia, 3, readies for another play.

Duane Smart, 72, and John Skalski show that LHS spirit.

From Dream To Reality

The Fighting Farmers began the 1982-83 season with a dream. The dream was to conquer the unfamiliar teams of the 12-AAAAA District. But to accomplish this dream, they needed determination. Determination being defined as the act of deciding definitely and firmly in regard to a course of action. The next step was "the course of action." The Farmers brought their dream to reality on the field and on the scoreboard. The people of Lewisville were in full support of the team. Each Friday night, the stands were packed with the fans of these Fighting Farmers, waiting in anticipation of the night's action. The phrase "I love the Farmers" became a local motto. With this support, the Farmer football team carried the word "win" with them from the first to the last game. The dream had become a reality. The reality being the reward of the 12-AAAAA district title, a dream thought to be impossible but made possible in the 1982-83 Fighting Farmer Football season.

J.V. Gears up for 1983

Junior Varsity football is the last step before becoming a Varsity player. These juniors are preparing for their final year in high school football. They practice before and after school with the Varsity players. These workouts are part of the preparation for their coming senior year. Their season of 5-3 was full of Thursday night excitement. These guys, who scrimmage the Varsity each Monday and Tuesday after school, are our Future Fighting Farmer Varsity Football team.

Soph's Finish with 9-1 record

Sophomore football plays a big part in the step to being a Varsity player. This conditioning level takes guts and determination to endure the long, hard workouts. Practice is topped off by a series of fast sprints. Every Wednesday the sophomores must face the experienced Varsity team in a scrimmage. This practice payed off when the L.H.S. 1982-83 Fighting Farmer Sophomore team had a winning season of 9-1.

Farmers Strive For Good Year

The goal for the 1982-83 Farmer basketball was, of course, to win. The Farmers had a fair season that equally balanced itself out. The LHS Varsity team proceeded to "Go For It" with vigor and determination. The team was composed of young men with a set goal, and that was to excel. Although not quite excelling in the form of wins, the Fighting Farmer Varsity basketball team gave a top performance throughout the year.

Varsity Hoops It Up

After three district games, the Varsity record stood at 9 wins and 10 losses. The team won their first game Nov. 22 against Trinity. The second game went to Newman Smith, but the Farmers rebounded to defeat Highland Park Nov. 30. At the Grapevine tournament, Dec. 2-4, the Varsity beat two of their three opponents: Corsicana and Arlington Heights. Then the Farmers returned home Dec. 7 to win 84-48 over Irving Nimitz. The team lost momentum, however, at the beginning of the district season suffering losses to Lake Highlands, Richardson, and Pearce.

J.V. Shoots For Two

The LHS Junior Varsity basketball team works hard to live up to the standards set for being members of the J.V. team at Lewisville High School. These standards require these future Varsity players to work hard with force and determination to achieve perfection in team performance. These standards are set so that these guys will prepare for their future positions as members of the Varsity basketball team.

Farmerette Basketball Shoots for Two

The LHS Girls Varsity Basketball team continues to astound everyone. It seems there is no end to their constant wins and successes. Coming into 1982-83 as Regional Semi-Finalists these girls had a hard name to live up to. In the past year Stacey Davis had the honor of being selected Player of the Year and All-American while our coach Peggy Tate was selected as Coach of the Year. First team All-District winners were Stacey Davis, Michelle Van Dyke and Carla Houston, all returning this year as seniors. In 1982-83 five letter winners returned as seniors, one as a junior. Ranked number one in metroplex ratings the Farmerettes showed the result of hard work and dedication. The girls were victorious in tournaments against top competitors losing only in the finals of South West Amateur Athletic Union after a sixteen game winning streak. The success is attributed to the determination of these girls to be the best in girls basketball. They show their spirit during workouts by wearing shirts with the printed words "Thinking Positive."

The Farmerette Junior Varsity Basketball team has had an exciting 1982-83 basketball season. This team is comprised of sophomores with the exception of one junior. These girls know that they must take the time and dedication required to excel in a competitive sport. Hard work yields a winning season. The majority of these girls will be returning in the 1983-84 season to both J.V. and varsity basketball. With these excellent players returning the Lewisville High School Farmerette Basketball program is sure to be a success.

Triumph

Playing in a new district did not help matters for the team. "We were moved into the 'Powerhouse' district — the tough one. Our team this year was as good as last year, it was just put to the test with a tougher district and stronger tournaments. This season was like a warm up. The team was what might be referred to as a 'Rookie Team'," said Coach Pam McWhorter.

LHS Wrestlers Pin The Best

Farmer wrestling is both an individual and team sport. Wrestlers compete for individual scores against members of other teams. These scores are then totaled for the team score to determine the overall winning team. This sport requires necessary factors: speed, endurance, strength and intelligence. While the object is to pin the opposing wrestler, a match may be won by a higher score when time is up. Wrestling is a challenge to the mind, soul and body.

Soccer Season

1982-83

Soccer Makes a Kickin' Start

Soccer has evolved as the world's most popular sport. Played in every country, the sport gains popularity as youth soccer sweeps the country at all levels. Defending your goal is the name of the game in this sport. L.H.S. Varsity and J.V. soccer teams are good examples of teams that really go for it. These guys put forth their best in agility, strength and action. These three things compose a team made to win.

Girl's Soccer Makes a Name for Itself

Soccer to the Lewisville High School girls is a challenge. These girls feel they must accomplish something that is well beyond the call of duty. That something is to excel in a sport that until recent years has been dominated by the male population. Soccer for women takes courage, strength and determination in addition to agility and prowess. The LHS girls soccer team succeeds in proving that excellence in performance is for any one a possibility.

Cross Country Sprints Into Season

James Willman struggles to keep the lead.

The Cross Country track team has proven itself again this year with its performance. During the season each member strove to do his best. The team runs at an average of 65 miles a week. As a result, the team has placed in over half of their meets. This year the team has had many outstanding runners. A few of these are James Jackson, Joe Durbin, Danny Hayden, James Willman, Mike Munoz, Roger Beggs, Bruce Colon and Steve Brock. This year they have competed against J. J. Pearce, Richardson, Lake Highlands, Plano and Berkner.

Along with the Cross Country track team Dee Dee Bumpus keeps up the pace. She continues to do her best to bring the team ahead of their competitors.

Track Runs into '83'

During this season, the track team has played an important role in sports. At the beginning of the year, the team worked hard exercising and conditioning in order to face their opponents. By track season they were ready to take on any team. Some of their competitors included Richardson, Plano, Mesquite, Irving, Highland Park and Lake Highlands.

Swimmers Splash Into Good Season

Every morning and afternoon, the Lewisville boys and girls swimming team has entered Flower Mound pool for workouts. This long season of two-a-days continues through March. In an average day's workout the athlete will swim close to six miles a day or the physical equivalent of running nearly 25 miles. Swimming is one of the most physically demanding sports. Last year's district champion successfully defended their title by winning the 6-AAAAA district title with a record of 13-0 adding to last year's record making it 25-0. This sport, established six years ago at Lewisville High School, continues to grow in participation and skill. The 1982-83 swim team has done an excellent job this year.

Tennis Team Swings Into Action

The LHS tennis team is one of the many athletic programs that the school sponsors. The team, coached by Ted Renshaw, has played tournaments against many difficult teams from area schools. Matches are played against individual schools. The team captains, Russ Bryant and Cher Nery, organize the extra team activities. The team practices, held during sixth period daily, usually consist of drills, games against teammates and jogging. Fridays are all day tournaments while matches start late in the day. The LHS Tennis Team works hard to achieve the high goal of perfection.

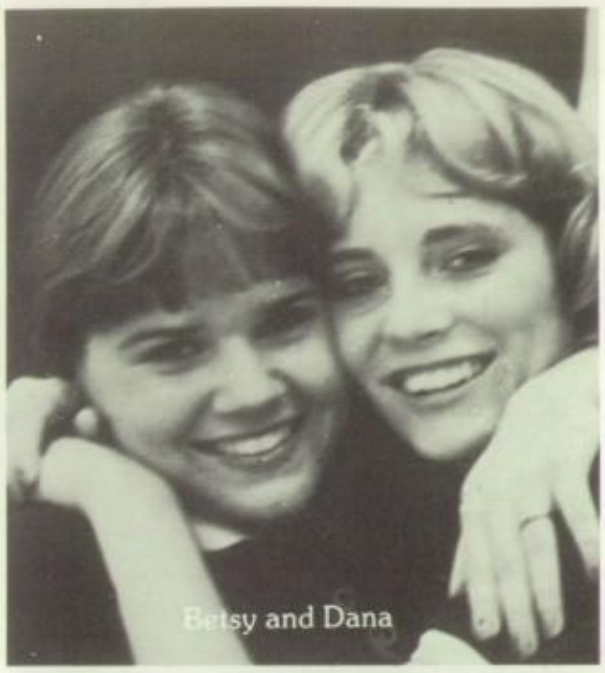
'82-'83 Rah Rahs Rally Spirit



Betsy and Dana

The Varsity Cheerleaders are the building blocks of spirit at LHS. The squad, composed of juniors and seniors elected by the student body, remains dedicated and hard-working throughout the year. These girls must achieve high grades while at the same time spend long hours preparing for the many school activities in which they participate. The Varsity Cheerleaders are an important part of varsity athletics. The season's football games could not be the same without these girls. With the attitude that they must keep spirits high, win or lose, they carry on. Cheering for that fast-moving sport, basketball, can be a challenge. This squad pumps up spirit at both the varsity boys and girls basketball games. The LHS varsity cheerleaders have a unity unlike any other. This unity gives them the initiative to be cheerleaders. Their smiles and personalities are ever-present factors in what it takes to brighten spirit at LHS.

While Farmer may be an easy word to spell out on paper, spelling it with 10 Bell Crew bodies is entirely another story. The Bell Crew is also responsible for bringing the bell to all of the football games. The bell is originally from the first high school in Lewisville, which was located where College Street Elementary School now stands. The Bell Crew consists of 11 members which includes John Prochaska as Big John. The 82-83 Bell Crew definitely added class to the pep rallies and football games.

The 1982-83 LHS Band

Establishing a tradition of excellence has taken a long and hard time for the L.H.S. band. But when one considers that it is The Band That Marches With Pride they would understand that excellence is fought for and earned. That is just what the L.H.S. band has done; earned themselves the honor of being called "The Band That Marches With Pride." Leading and directing the band for this year is Bill McMath, Charles Casillas and Bob Brashears. They have lent some of their knowledge and experience to the band to make the Band one of the best around.

1982-83 drum majors, Alyson Wood and Kristen Strobel, helped lead the Fighting Farmers to numerous victories. The Marching Band and Nancy Shiftner keep up with the times by supporting the Farmers.

The L.H.S. Marching Band competed in the UIL Marching Competition at the University of Texas at Arlington Maverick Stadium on November 2, 1982. The band earned a First Division, which is a superior rating, for the twentieth consecutive year. Their performance included the music of "Los Diablos," "If" and "Georgia on My Mind." The show also featured trumpet soloists Kelly McDowell and June Sewell. The bands were rated on musical competency, marching competency, general effect, general appearance and discipline. The bands were rated from one to five, with one being superior and five being a poor score. As the years go by the younger band members inherit the desire to win that makes them want to carry out the traditions established by past members.

For the past 25 years, L.H.S. Marching Bands have put forth a great deal of effort to establish and maintain their tradition, "The Band That Marches With Pride". Farmerettes Step High

The Farmerettes continued their award-winning tradition this year, at the Kilgore Rangerette Drill Team Camp, by winning the spirit pom, first place on skit night, first division ratings in military, prop and highkick categories, and also they won the sweepstakes trophy. The Farmerettes have worked hard to promote school spirit by appearing in parades, at pep rallies and at football games. But the Farmerette season does not end with football season. They will be performing at various basketball games and they hope to attend the Fiesta Parade in San Antonio. They will end their year by competing at various contests in the North Texas area and finally by presenting a spring show. Obviously this drill team has set high standards for other drill teams because of their enthusiasm, dedication and hard work.

Choir Shares Lovely Music

Choir is one of the many activities which has a large number of participants. Ninety students are enrolled in either Women's Choir, Mainstreet Singers or A Capella Choir. The members must audition before being accepted. During the course of the year, the choirs have given a Christmas and spring concert. They have also attended the University Interscholastic League competition. Many of the members have participated in the school musical. Choir, although challenging, is very rewarding.

Debate Stands on the Issue

The debate program at Lewisville High began in 1949 with only a handful of interested students. Since that time, the activity has grown to include over 20 team members participating actively in forensic activities throughout the year. Debate is a form of organized argumentation in which the debater must take a stand on a controversial issue of modern society. A national topic is selected by a national committee in the spring prior to the school year in which it is to be debated. The topic which is debated varies from year to year. In past years, it has included such subjects as education, consumer goods and foreign policy. This year's topic is, "RESOLVED: That the U.S. should significantly curtail its arms sales to other countries." In order to put the skills learned in the classroom to work and represent the district in one form of academic excellence, our Lewisville High debate teams debate at various Texas Forensic Association and University Interscholastic League tournaments in the area. They attend an average of two tournaments per month, each of which requires extensive research and preparation. The win-loss records of the Lewisville teams are quite impressive, and they continue to improve each year as they learn new techniques and skills. With the knowledge they have acquired, for the first time this year, Lewisville High has sponsored a tournament open to any school in the area.

The big step in accomplishment results from the Leadership Development Training Class. In this class the council members further their skills in how to be effective leaders. Spending time planning activities remains an important part of the class. Activities sponsored by the Council include all elections, the Homecoming parade and bonfire, dances, the marquee sales and promoting school spirit and also a Sadie Hawkins Week in the spring. '83 Farmer Dresses-Up

The production of the "Farmer" continues to be a major event at L.H.S. It takes from early August to late February to record and complete the year's events in yearbook form. This requires the annual staff to work hard throughout the year as each deadline occurs. Coordinating photographers with copy on quad-paks takes time and detail. This careful planning produces the year-book. Activities and events that occur throughout the year are the memories the students have. Collecting all these memories into a scrapbook created the L.H.S. Farmer. The staff works hard to create this goal for they believe that memories recorded are memories well remembered.

'Harvest' Celebrates 30th Year

Managing Editor Damian Drewitz readies copy for layout.

The "Farmers' Harvest" is a weekly publication of L.H.S. Students involved in journalism classes participate in realistic situations such as reporting, headline writing, photography, ad sales and layouts. In these classes students receive first-hand experience in the world of journalism. The "Farmers' Harvest", celebrating its 30th year of publication, evolved from a single letter size paper to the two pages which it now occupies every Thursday in the "Lewisville Daily Leader." The "Harvest" enters many contests during the school year and is a beneficial publication dedicated to informing the students and citizens of Lewisville of activities and events occuring at L.H.S.

FFA Prepares for Future Agricultural careers

The Lewisville Vocational Agriculture Department offers three courses of study: Production Agriculture, Cooperative Part-Time Training and Pre-employment Laboratory in Agriculture Resources. Production Agriculture is a four year program composed of three parts: classroom instruction, project program and the FFA. The classroom instruction includes crop science, soil science, animal science and agricultural mechanics, as well as other related areas of agriculture. With the Supervised Occupational Experience Program students gain first hand experience in production agriculture by maintaining an agricultural project such as a pig for pork production or hay and grain production. The Future Farmers of America is the third part of the production program but also is a major part of the other two programs. The FFA is a national organization that trains leaders. FFA activities include parliamentary procedure, public speaking, judging contests for livestock, land and agricultural products, community service projects, social activities and livestock shows. Through participation in these activities, students are able to earn awards, scholarships and recognition at the state and national level. FFA is an organization highly respected at LHS, for it gives our students something to work for.

VICA is an important part of industrial education. This club promotes citizenship and leadership, two qualities that are an asset to anyone. These qualities are strengthened by activities that plan and carry out approved scholastic, civic and social projects. VOCCT Prints Up Business

The Vocational Office Careers Club of Texas has a purpose which is to promote leadership for young people. This club is for students who like to work with their hands. They also have the knowledge and skill needed to operate all kinds of printing equipment. One of the activities to look forward to by being a member of VOCCT is attending the state youth leadership conference which is held in the spring. DECA Provides On-The-Job Training

Marketing and Distributive Education students select a career objective to hold throughout the year. DECA's greatest contribution is in motivating students to learn how to perform as leaders and how to cooperate as a team. Students achieve this through their on-the-job training, classroom instruction and the DECA Club. Through DECA, students participate in various community service activities, social activities and competency based events. This year the DECA Club will actively compete at the Area Career Development Conference in Denton, the State CDC in Houston and then National Competition in New Orleans. Students receive many types of recognition through scholarships and awards. The highlight of the year for Marketing and Distribution students is the annual Employer-Employee Banquet. Here the students honor their employers for their service, dedication and training and also for giving them a "head start" in life.

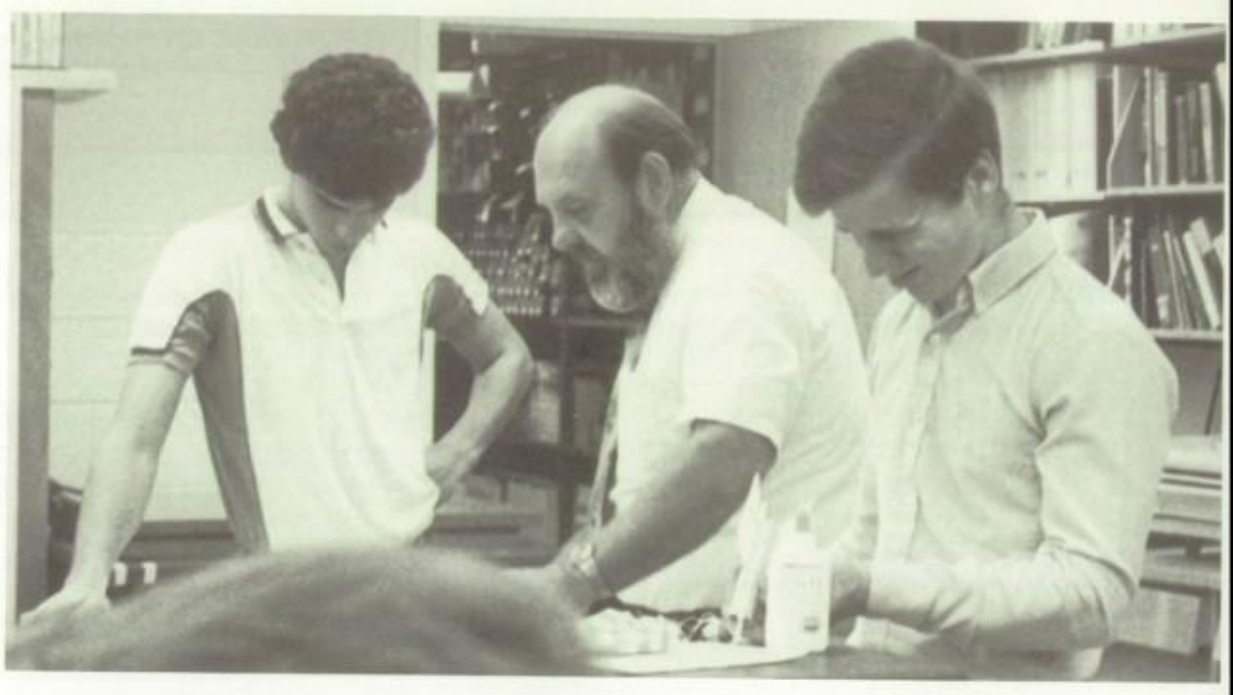
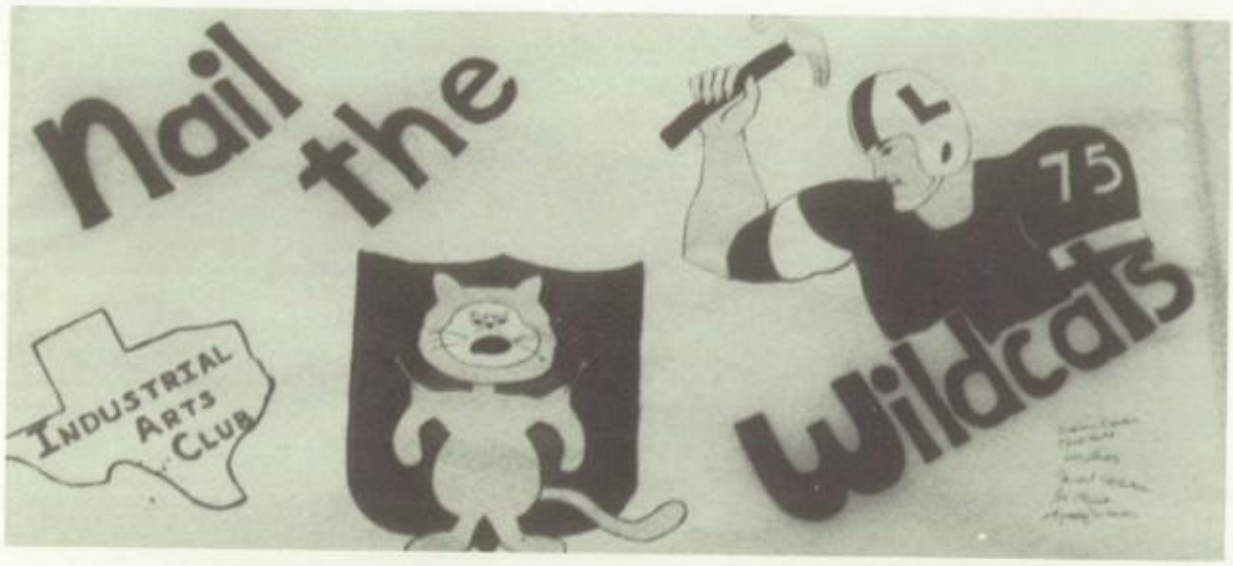
IA Club Draws Attention

The Lewisville High School Industrial Arts Club was formed in the spring of 1964. Sponsor Horace Trietsch and his students from the Lewisville Chapter helped to organize the National Industrial Arts Student Association during their first convention in Tulsa, Oklahoma. Trietsch has been at LHS for 25 years. Through these years he has both contributed and counseled his students in many areas. Texas, LHS, IA Club and Trietsch have all played a large role in building the National AIASA.



John Hensley, Horace Trietsch and Joe Monk work together to solve a problem.



The IA Club shows spirit by participating in the spirit sign contest during a pep rally.

Horace Trietsch, I.A. Club advisor, feels right at home in his cowboy hat on Western Day.

In high school, each individual puts a little of himself into the school, hoping that somehow someone will remember what he has accomplished. He wants to leave a final impression, a mark to show that he has been there. This mark should represent him and his accomplishments. This achievement should be something that only he could do.

My final contribution to LHS is the work that I have done on "The Official Farmer Handbook." The entire staff has put many hours into this yearbook. We have meant for this yearbook to serve as a memory of a very special year and very special people. I hope it is accepted and enjoyed by you, the students. There are many people who need to be recognized for their help in making this yearbook possible. This acknowledgement is in appreciation for their work and contributions. A million thanks to Ms. Carolyn Morriss, our irreplaceable teacher, advisor and friend. Without her this yearbook would not have been possible. I thank her for her patience, understanding, support, encouragement, tolerance . . . The list is never ending. Thanks to Rhonda Morris for her ideas, work and tolerance. I thank the "Farmer" staff for their work and their understanding and forgiveness of my sudden outbursts and impatience. I thank the photography staff for all their time and contributions. Very special thanks to Fran Doty who was a blessing to the " '83 Farmer." Acie Mitchell, our fantastic Taylor rep. who has put up with our questions, frantic phone calls, unorganized deadlines and problems, certainly deserves our thanks. I apologize to my teachers, friends and family who had to suffer my moods and tantrums throughout the course of the year. Finally, thanks to all the individual contributors who saved us many headaches.

As a special acknolwedgement, I must thank the person who made it possible for me to become the editor of the " '83 Farmer." That person was Mr. Michael Lamb. He was a very special man and a wonderful teacher and I miss him dearly. To me, "Uncle Butch" will always be present in room 202 teaching his "Wee Babes" not only about journalism, but also about life. He taught respect and individuality. I can only hope that he would be proud of me.

As I reflect on the years gone by, I can only conclude that my life at LHS has been one of rich rewards and much happiness. I tried to the best of my ability to make this yearbook an unforgettable one. I will always treasure the memories of working on the yearbook staff and attending LHS. Deadlines were usually total confusion but through staff efforts we produced a fantastic yearbook. This would not have been possible without the dedication of Carolyn Morriss, yearbook sponsor. She has been a loyal, devoted friend and teacher. I would like to thank the entire yearbook staff and photographers for all their hard work, patience and effort in putting together this year's annual. At first things were rough but eventually, through much determination and patience, we made it work. Special thanks go to my friends and family for putting up with my rotten behavior during the chaotic deadlines. Everyone was so understanding and I can't thank them enough. Also, I would like to show my appreciation to Taylor Publishing Company and Acie Mitchell, ex-bachelor, for all their help in making this yearbook possible. As I traveled through my years at LHS it was all fun and games until my senior year. Then people and things seem to change. It was time to grow up and break the ties. I will always hold close to my heart the memories of all the exciting football games, rowdy pep rallies, dances, parties and my friends. My years at LHS have been the absolute best.

Special Thanks To:

The 1983 Farmer, student yearbook of LHS, was printed by Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas. Acie Mitchell is our representative from Taylor. The theme, "The Official Farmer Handbook", was developed through a staff effort. The cover and endsheets were designed by Dianne Durbin. The cover is Red 061, handtool stamped with gold foil inlay. Endsheets are graphic artwork. Headline and copy type is Souvenir #142. The paper is 80 pound enamel with Smyth binding. This year 1,350 books were printed and sold at a cost of $15 each. Names were printed on some books at an additional charge. Photographs in the annual, with the exception of school portraits and color prints were taken, processed and printed by students in the journalism department. Senior pictures were taken by Sloan Photography of Lewisville. Underclassmen pictures were taken by School Pictures Incorporated.
